603. NK-Pekah killed a hundred and twenty thousand valiant men of Judah in one day. Zichri, a mighty man of the tribe of Ephraim, killed Maaseiah, the king's son, as well as Azrikam, the steward of the king's house, and Elkanah, who was next to the king in authority. The Israelites also carried away captive from Judah and Jerusalem two hundred thousand women, boys and maids. They plundered their goods and carried everything away to Samaria. When warned by Hadlai, a prophet of God, they released all of the prisoners and restored their goods to them in the presence of their princes and the whole congregation of Samaria. They treated them kindly and escorted them safely to Jericho. {#2Ch 28:6-15}
